Careers Outside Of Academia

Virtual Seminar
For questions e-mail Karina Peggau at peggau.1@osu.edu
September 2 @ 3:45 p.m.

Nathan Patrick is a hydrologist with the California Nevada River Forecast Center of the National Weather Service. Previously, Nathan was a physical scientist with the Office of Water Prediction of the NWS. His work has focused on improving meteorological forcings for use in hydrologic models. Nathan received a BS and MS in Atmospheric Sciences from Ohio State.

Dr. Brooke White serves as a Senior Air Quality Specialist for a 15 county region with the Mid-Ohio Regional Planning Commission. Her portfolio includes project management, marketing, and educational initiatives along with technical services in air quality and sustainability.

Emily Sambuco is an Atmospheric Scientist working in Research and Development. Her work focuses on catastrophe model validation, natural catastrophe risk for Liberty Mutual Insurance, and Geographic Information Science (GIS).

Registration Link: https://tinyurl.com/y33dsa3k